

HASELL—BRUCE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Mortimer Hasell, to James Robert Bruce, of Brunswick, the marriage to be solemnized the latter part of November at Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island.

o o o o

CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS GIVEN FOR THE WEEK

TUESDAY—
Daddy's Night program of Glynn Elementary P. T. A., Memorial Auditorium, 8 p. m.

Bridge luncheon, Miss A. J. Postell, hostess, honoring Miss Kitty Hasell, bride-elect, 11 a. m.

Sans Souci Club, Mrs. Charles Gowen, hostess, 3 p. m.

WEDNESDAY—

Woman's Club home economic program, Y. W. C. A., 3:30 p. m.

Bridge party, Miss Rosa Vickers, hostess, Miss Kitty Hasell, honoree, 3:30 p. m.

Crescent Bridge Club, Miss Florence Maxey, hostess, 3:30 p. m.

Bridge tournament, Oglethorpe Hotel, 2:15 p. m.

THURSDAY—

Women's Club voice and personality class, Miss Lucile Butts, teacher, Y. W. C. A., 10 a. m.

FRIDAY—

Amitie Club, Mrs. Charlton Fleming, hostess, 3:30 p. m.

Friday Afternoon Club, Mrs. W. L. Harwell, hostess, 3:30 p. m.

o o o o

know of her marriage.

o o o o

PARTIES NEXT WEEK FOR MISS KITTY HASELL

Miss Kitty Hasell, attractive bride-elect of the month, will be the central figure at a delightful series of social courtesies to be given her next week by friends. On Tuesday Miss Annie J. Postell will entertain Miss Hasell at a bridge luncheon at her home, "Cedar Hill," on St. Simons Island at 11 o'clock. Miss Rosa Vickers will entertain the bride-elect at a bridge party Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home on Union street.

On Thursday evening Miss Hasell and her fiance, Robert Bruce, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Bruce, whose marriage was a recent event of interest, will be entertained at a dinner party in Savannah by Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach at their home on Abercorn street.

o o o o

MISS HASELL COMPLIMENTED

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. L. W. Everett and Mrs. J. D. Gould, Jr., were hostesses at the latter's home, honoring Miss Kitty Hasell, charming bride-elect. An afternoon of contract bridge was enjoyed; high and second high prizes, lovely silk hose and Coty's vanity set, were awarded to Misses Mary V. Gramling and Mitz Williams, respectively. The consolation prize, a manicure set, was won by Miss Frances Cleveland. Miss Hasell was the recipient of beautiful linen Madeira napkins, and Mrs. Charlie Bruce, a recent bride, was presented with a pretty linen breakfast set.

The rooms where the guests assembled were attractive in a green, yellow and white color combination, large yellow chrysanthemums being used in the flower arrangement.

A delicious salad course and coffee were followed by Neapolitan ice cream in the three appointed colors and dainty individual cakes.

As a culmination of the afternoons pleasure, Miss Hasell was presented with a large Thanksgiving pumpkin filled with useful linen gifts from her friends.

Those invited to play and as tea guests included Misses Frances Cleveland, Mitz Williams, Martha Pate, Rosa Vickers, Estelle McCaskill, Elizabeth Stevens, Elizabeth Young, Doris Woolfe, Mary Cunningham, Aldora Cain, Mildred Bunkley, Carolyn Lowe, Willie Ramsey, Virginia Sapp, Mary V. Gramling, Mesdames Miesse Baumgardner, Charlie Bruce, Billy Backus, Millard Copeland, Georges Durand, Bertha Stevenson, Jimmy Paulk, E. C. Bruce and Douglas Taylor.

MISS POSTELL HOSTESS BRIDGE LUNCHEON TUESDAY

Miss Annie J. Postell entertained a group of friends at a delightful bridge luncheon party Tuesday at her home, "Cedar Hills," on St. Simons Island, having Miss Kitty Hasell, lovely bride-elect of next week as the honoree.

Attractive fall floral decorations were used in the spacious living room of the home where guests enjoyed contract bridge at three tables. Mrs. Charles Bruce won the high score prize, and Miss Elizabeth Stevens received low score. The two prizes as well as guest prize presented Miss Hasell were pretty hand-made aprons, the artistic work of the hostess.

At the conclusion of the spirited card games, a delicious three-course luncheon was served.

MISS POSTELL

Did you see the big game in Jacksonville last Saturday? Well, you aren't the only disappointed person in Brunswick. I've never seen quite so many people plan to go and then back out. I guess there's a reason for everything. . . . The marriage happened just as I predicted. I understand another is to come off soon, in fact two. Of course the most important is that of Kitty Hasell to Robert Bruce; the other, I understand, will take place on the fifth night of the Glynn County Fair. I can't tell you the couple and no one else will know who it is until it happens. Maybe you don't know, but it will be public at the Fair. . . . Have you been swimming since September 11th? Rosa, Claire Copeland and myself went in the pool Saturday. Was it cold? No, just a bit chilly. Claire had to drop her crocheting needle under the board walk, and you should have seen Rosa and I scrambling around under there for it, while we were doing this some people came in the pool. They thought Claire was "nuts" as she was talking to us and us not being in sight they thought she was carrying on a soliloquy. . . . Three of our local young men went hunting the other day. They got lost and bogged around in a swamp for three hours. On returning, one of them was so covered with mud he was mistaken for a tramp, much to his sorrow. . . . Did you see the circus or the Halloween Parade? We saw the circus and judging by the number of people I recognized everyone must have been uptown.

MISS CATHERINE HASSELL, BRIDE-ELECT OF THIS MONTH HONORED

Mrs. Mary Everett and Mrs. Jas. D. Gould, Jr., entertained with a lovely bridge party Tuesday afternoon, honoring Miss Catherine Hassell, a lovely bride-elect of this month. The spacious home of Mrs. Gould on Albany Street was beautifully enhanced by the artful display of fall flowers. The hostesses Mrs. Mary Everett and Mrs. Gould, were becomingly gowned in black crepe and green crepe, respectively. Miss Hassell, the honoree, was never more charming than in a beautiful fall model of black and white with matching accessories.

After the delightful progressions a lovely salad and sweet course was served.

The color scheme of green and yellow was carried out in all details. Miss Mary V. Gramling won high score, a lovely pair of hose, Miss Mitz Williams won second high, a combination set of powder and perfume. Consolation was cut by Miss Frances Cleveland, a leather manicure set. Mrs. Charles Bruce was presented a luncheon set.

As a memento of the happy occasion, Miss Hassell received a set of Madeira napkins.

MISS KITTY HASELL HONOREE OF LOVELY PARTY

Lovely in details was the delightful bridge party yesterday afternoon when Miss Rosa Vickers charmingly entertained twenty friends at contract bridge at her home on Union street, honoring Miss Kitty Hasell, whose marriage to Robert Bruce will be an event of social interest next week.

The hospitable Vickers home was prettily adorned with quantities of yellow and white chrysanthemums emphasizing the color note which featured the appointments. In this attractive setting five tables of contract bridge players enjoyed the afternoon. For making high score, Miss Sara Hammons was presented a powder and perfume set; consolation prize, a piece of lingerie, was cut by Miss Martha Pate, and Mrs. Howard Leavy received low score prize, a box of handkerchiefs. The bride-elect was presented a pair of hand-made pillowcases as a memento of the happy occasion.

Late in the afternoon the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Vickers, served a salad and sweet course with hot tea.

For the event, the hostess received her guests wearing a lovely afternoon gown of black chiffon velvet, and Miss Hasell was lovely in an afternoon gown of brown crepe with matching accessories.

The following guests are indebted to Miss Vickers for her delightful hospitality: Misses Kitty Hasell, Elizabeth Young, Mary Cunningham, Martha Pate, Frances Cleveland, Mitz Williams, Dolores Gillican, Estelle Caskill, Sara Hammons, Doris Vane, Elizabeth Bacon, Eleanor Stiles, Kathryn Perry, Mrs. Charles Bruce, Mrs. Miesse Baumgardner, Mrs. Eugene Dill, Mrs. Howard Leavy, Mrs. G. T. Holody, Mrs. Millard Copeland, Jr., and Miss Mildred Bunkley. Miss Carolyn Lowe and Mrs. Joe Glover, who were tea guests.

♦ ♦ ♦ ♦

HASELL-BRUCE WEDDING PLANS

Of cordial interest in social circles of the city and island resorts is the announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, and Mr. James Robert Bruce, of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach. The marriage of this popular young couple will be solemnized at a pretty ceremony Wednesday, November 28, at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Christ church at Frederica on St. Simons Island. The impressive Episcopal ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Charles H. Lee, rector of the church, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The bride will be given in marriage by Mr. Taylor and will be attended by her aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordele, as matron of honor. Miss Rosa Vickers, of this city, and Miss Estelle McCaskill, of St. Simons, will serve as bridesmaids. Charles Dixon Bruce will serve as his brother's best man and Howard Leavy and Bernard Nightingale will be groomsmen. Mrs. Alfred V. Wood will preside at the organ and render the program of nuptial music, and just preceding the ceremony Miss Carolyn Lowe will offer an appropriate vocal number.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception which was to have followed the ceremony has been called off. Only members of the wedding party will return to the home after the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Douglas Taylor request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Catherine Mortimer Hasell
to
Mr. James Robert Bruce
on Wednesday afternoon, November twenty-eighth at half after five o'clock
Christ Church, Frederica
Saint Simons Island, Georgia

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣
CARDS ISSUED FOR HASELL-BRUCE WEDDING

Lovely engraved cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Taylor to a large group of friends requesting their presence at the marriage of their daughter, Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, to Mr. James Robert Bruce on Wednesday afternoon, November 28, at 5:30 o'clock at Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Miss Hasell and Robert Bruce Wedded at Beautiful Ceremony at Christ Church

At a beautiful wedding this afternoon, in which centered much social interest, Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, was united in marriage to Mr. James Robert Bruce, of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach, at historic Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island before a company of guests which taxed the seating capacity of the quaint little building. The impressive Episcopal marriage ceremony was read by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Lee, at 5:30 o'clock.

Against a background of palms, verdant foliage in which were many Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums and myriad burning cathedral tapers in branched candelabra which decorated the chancel and altar of the church, the wedding party stood, achieving a lovely picture. During the assembling of the guests, Mrs. Alfred V. Wood, who presided at the organ, rendered an appropriate musical program and just preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe sweetly sang two wedding hymns, "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordele, as matron of honor, and Miss Rosa Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill were bridesmaids. Howard Leavy and Bernard Nightingale acted as groomsmen and ushers and Mr. Bruce was attended by his brother, Charles Dixon Bruce, as best man, and entered with the bridegroom from the vestry.

The bride, a beautiful brunette of vivid coloring, entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage, and was never lovelier than in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet handsomely fashioned with streamline fitted hip line with a graceful train. The cowl neck of the gown closed at the back with velvet buttons to the waist line and was finished with a small velvet bow. The sleeves were long with a soft drape above the elbow, the cuff, fitted in the elbow was finished with a point over the hand and closed with a tiny velvet bow. Her becoming wedding veil was of double illusion with a wreath of orange blossoms, and pearls framing the face and being shirred across the back of the neck, falling in full folds over the shoulder and forming a long train. The bride wore ivory moire sandals and ivory kid gloves and carried a lovely arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids' lovely gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high cowl neck caught at the back with rhinestone clips and slit to the waist line. The sleeves were strictly period being shirred all the length of the sleeve with a drapel opening at the shoulder. The matron of honor's gown was of the same style but fashioned of golden brown velvet. The bridesmaids and matron of honor wore chic hats of velvet and tulle combined, the same shade of the gowns, close fitting models with petals of velvet bordering the crown with soft matching tulle framing the face.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a lovely afternoon gown of raspberry crepe combined with satin with hat and other accessories to match and completed with a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, was charming in an afternoon gown of black crepe handsomely trimmed with a gold flecked bow and worn with hat and other accessories of black. Her shoulder corsage was of Talisman rose buds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake in the prettily decorated dining room was cut by the bridal party and punch was served the small group. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a lovely three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a smart English Dobbs hat of navy felt and other accessories to match. The young couple left by motor for a week's wedding trip to points of interest in Florida, after which they will return to St. Simons and begin housekeeping in the Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is one of the most attractive and lovable young girls in Brunswick's and St. Simons' social contingent. Ever since her school days she has enjoyed an enviable popularity because of her beauty and cordial and charming manner. Her poise and sweetness are most pleasing and she has been extensively entertained at many lovely prenuptial social courtesies since the announcement of her engagement. The bride is a graduate of Glynn Academy, also Wesleyan College Conservatory at Macon and is a popular figure at all social affairs of the city and island resorts. Her parents are well known and highly esteemed citizens of St. Simons, and she is a granddaughter of the late Judge James D. Gould, prominent pioneer of St. Simons.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce of Sea Island Beach, and the late E. C. Bruce, well known and prominent citizen of Brunswick for a number of years. The bridegroom, one of the city's most popular young professional men, is a graduate of Glynn Academy here. He attended Emory University for two years, and the University of Georgia for three years, receiving his degree in law from the Lumpkin Law School at the university in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and several honorary legal fraternities. Mr. Bruce, whose family has been prominently connected in the community for many years, has successfully practiced law in Brunswick for two years, and is highly esteemed in social and civic circles. He is a popular member of the Nine O'Clock Cotillion Club and the Young Men's Club of Brunswick.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon of Jacksonville, Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Bruce, Jr., of Vero Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell of interest, Miss Catherine Hasell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, was united in marriage to Mr. James Robert Bruce, of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach, at historic Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island before a company of guests which taxed the seating capacity of the quaint little building. The impressive Episcopal marriage ceremony was read by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Lee, at 5:30 o'clock.

Against a background of palms, verdant foliage in which were many Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums and myriad burning cathedral tapers in branched candelabra which decorated the chancel and altar of the church, the wedding party stood, achieving a lovely picture. During the assembling of the guests, Mrs. Alfred V. Wood, who presided at the organ, rendered an appropriate musical program and just preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe sweetly sang two wedding hymns, "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordele, as matron of honor, and Miss Rosa Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill were bridesmaids. Howard Leavy and Bernard Nightingale acted as groomsmen and ushers and Mr. Bruce was attended by his brother, Charles Dixon Bruce, as best man, and entered with the bridegroom from the vestry.

The bride, a beautiful brunette of vivid coloring, entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage, and was never lovelier than in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet handsomely fashioned with streamline fitted hip line with a graceful train. The cowl neck of the gown closed at the back with velvet buttons to the waist line and was finished with a small velvet bow. The sleeves were long with a soft drape above the elbow, the cuff, fitted in the elbow was finished with a point over the hand and closed with a tiny velvet bow. Her becoming wedding veil was of double illusion with a wreath of orange blossoms, and pearls framing the face and being shirred across the back of the neck, falling in full folds over the shoulder and forming a long train. The bride wore ivory moire sandals and ivory kid gloves and carried a lovely arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids' lovely gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high cowl neck caught at the back with rhinestone clips and slit to the waist line. The sleeves were strictly period being shirred all the length of the sleeve with a draped opening at the shoulder. The matron of honor's gown was of the same style but fashioned of golden brown velvet. The bridesmaids and matron of honor wore chic hats of velvet and tulle combined, the same shade of the gowns, close fitting models with petals of velvet bordering the crown with soft matching tulle framing the face. They wore sandals matching their costumes and carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with with hat and other accessories to match and completed with a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, was charming in an afternoon gown of black crepe handsomely trimmed with a gold flecked bow and worn with hat and other accessories of black. Her shoulder corsage was of Talisman rose buds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake in the prettily decorated dining room was cut by the bridal party and punch was served the small group. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a lovely three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a smart English Dobbs hat of navy felt and other accessories to match. The young couple left by motor for a week's wedding trip to points of interest in Florida, after which they will return to St. Simons and begin housekeeping in the Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is one of the most attractive and lovable young girls in Brunswick's and St. Simons' social contingent. Ever since her school days she has enjoyed an enviable popularity because of her beauty and cordial and charming manner. Her poise and sweetness are most pleasing and she has been extensively entertained at many lovely prenuptial social courtesies since the announcement of her engagement. The bride is a graduate of Glynn Academy, also Wesleyan College Conservatory at Macon and is a popular figure at all social affairs of the city and island resorts. Her parents are well known and highly esteemed citizens of St. Simons, and she is a granddaughter of the late Judge James D. Gould, prominent pioneer of St. Simons.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce of Sea Island Beach, and the late E. C. Bruce, well known and prominent citizen of Brunswick for a number of years. The bridegroom, one of the city's most popular young professional men, is a graduate of Glynn Academy here. He attended Emory University for two years, and the University of Georgia for three years, receiving his degree in law from the Lumpkin Law School at the university in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and several honorary legal fraternities. Mr. Bruce, whose family has been prominently connected in the community for many years, has successfully practiced law in Brunswick for two years, and is highly esteemed in social and civic circles. He is a popular member of the Nine O'Clock Cotillion Club and the Young Men's Club of Brunswick.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon of Jacksonville, Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Bruce, Jr., of Vero Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell of Cordele, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Berolzheimer of New York City, Mrs. A. D. Hananan, of Dothan, Ala.

MRS. E. C. BRUCE IS HOSTESS LUNCHEON PARTY

Mrs. E. C. Bruce entertained*today at a lovely luncheon party at her home on Sea Island Beach, honoring members of the Hasell-Bruce wedding party and a number of the out-of-town guests on St. Simons to attend the wedding. About twenty guests enjoyed the party which was very attractive in ever feature of the appointments.

o o o o

o o o o

HASELL-BRUCE BRIDAL PARTY BE ENTERTAINED

Miss Kitty Hasell and Robert Bruce, whose marriage will be an interesting social event at Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, and members of their bridal party will be entertained at a lovely buffet supper party this evening by Miss Hasell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Taylor, at their home at Frederica.

For the occasion charming appointments will be arranged, the home to be decorated throughout with chrysanthemums and roses and potted plants. The dining room table will be adorned in a white and yellow color motif and glowing candles will be placed around the central decoration of Sunset roses.

A buffet supper will be enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock by the following guests: Miss Kitty Hasell, Robert Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leavy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell of Cordele, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred V. Wood, Miss Rosa Vickers, Miss Estelle McCaskill, Bernard Nightingale, Mrs. E. C. Bruce, Dr. C. H. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Immediately after the party the wedding rehearsal will be held at Christ church.

o o o o

MISS CATHERINE HASELL WEDS MR. J. R. BRUCE AT FREDERICA

Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, and Mr. James Robert Bruce of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach, were wedded Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in historic little Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island. Rev. Charles H. Lee, rector, performed the impressive service.

The little church was appropriately decorated with palms and Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums. Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra decorated the chancel and altar.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Alfred C. Wood, organist, rendered appropriate selections. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe, sang two wedding hymns.

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordele, matron of honor; and Miss Rosa Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill, bridesmaids.

Messrs. Howard Leavy and Bernard Nightingale, acted as groomsmen and ushers. Mr. Bruce was attended by his brother, Mr. Charles Dixon Bruce as best man.

The bride entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage and was lovely in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet fashioned with fitted hip line and graceful train. Her wedding veil was of double illusion with a wreath of orange blossoms, and pearls framing the face. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid's gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high cowl neck. The matron of honor wore the same style gown fashioned of golden brown velvet. Their accessories were in matching shades, and they carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with tulle.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a gown of raspberry crepe and a shoulder corsage of Talisman rose buds.

Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black crepe trimmed with touches of gold and a shoulder corsage of Talisman rosebuds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake was cut. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a smart English hat of navy felt, and other matching accessories.

The young couple left by motor for a week's trip to various points in Florida. Upon their return, they will begin housekeeping in the Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is a charming young woman, and is well known and popular in Brunswick and on St. Simon Island. She is a graduate of Glynn academy in Brunswick, and also Wesleyan College conservatory at Macon. She is a granddaughter of the late Judge James D. Gould, prominent pioneer of St. Simon Island.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce of Sea Island Beach, and the late E. C. Bruce, well known and prominent citizens of Brunswick for a number of years. He is a graduate of Glynn academy, attended Emory university and the University of Georgia, receiving his degree in law from the Lumpkin Law school at the university in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and also belongs to several social clubs.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon, Jacksonville; Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Bruce, Vero Beach, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, Cordele; Mrs. A. D. Hannan, Dothan, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Berolzheimer, of New York city.

MISS CATHERINE HASELL WEDS MR. J. R. BRUCE AT FREDERICA

Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, and Mr. James Robert Bruce of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach, were wedded Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in historic little Christ church, Frederica, St. Simons Island. Rev. Charles H. Lee, rector, performed the impressive service.

The little church was appropriately decorated with palms and Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums. Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra decorated the chancel and altar.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Alfred C. Wood, organist, rendered appropriate selections. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe, sang two wedding hymns.

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordele, matron of honor; and Miss Rosa Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill, bridesmaids.

Messrs. Howard Leavy and Bernard Nightingale, acted as groomsmen and ushers. Mr. Bruce was attended by his brother, Mr. Charles Dixon Bruce as best man.

The bride entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage and was lovely in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet fashioned with fitted hip line and graceful train. Her wedding veil was of double illusion with a wreath of orange blossoms, and pearls framing the face. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid's gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high cowl neck. The matron of honor wore the same style gown fashioned of golden brown velvet. Their accessories were in matching shades, and they carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with tulle.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a gown of raspberry crepe and a shoulder corsage of Talisman rose buds.

Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black crepe trimmed with touches of gold and a shoulder corsage of Talisman rosebuds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake was cut. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a smart English hat of navy felt, and other matching accessories.

The young couple left by motor for a week's trip to various points in Florida. Upon their return, they will begin housekeeping in the Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is a charming young woman, and is well known and popular in Brunswick and on St. Simon Island. She is a graduate of Glynn academy in Brunswick, and also Wesleyan College conservatory at Macon. She is a granddaughter of the late Judge James D. Gould, prominent pioneer of St. Simon Island.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce of Sea Island Beach, and the late E. C. Bruce, well known and prominent citizens of Brunswick for a number of years. He is a graduate of Glynn academy, attended Emory university and the University of Georgia, receiving his degree in law from the Lumpkin Law school at the university in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and also belongs to several social clubs.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon, Jacksonville; Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Bruce, Vero Beach, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, Cordele; Mrs. A. D. Hannan, Dothan, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Berolabefmer, of New York city.

HASELL-BRUCE

Lovely Wedding Takes Place at St. Simons

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 28.—At a beautiful wedding this afternoon Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor of St. Simons Island, was married to James Robert Bruce of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach at historic Christ Church, Frederica, St. Simons Island, before a company of guests which taxed the seating capacity of the quaint little building. The ceremony was read by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Lee, at 5:30 o'clock.

Against a background of palms, verdant foliage in which were many Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums and myriad burning tapers in branched candelabra, the wedding party stood. Mrs. Alfred V. Wood, who presided at the organ, rendered a musical program and just preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell of Cordele as matron of honor and Miss Rose Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill as bridesmaids. Howland Leavy and Bernard Nightingale acted as groomsmen and ushers and Mr. Bruce's best man was his brother, Charles Dixon Bruce.

The bride, a beautiful brunette, entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage, and was never lovelier than in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet fashioned with the new streamline fitted hip line with a graceful train. The cowl neck of the gown closed at the back with velvet buttons to the waist line and the long sleeves had cuffs fitted to the elbow with a point over the hand. Her wedding veil was of double illusion worn with a wreath of orange blossoms and pearls, falling in full folds the length of the train. The bride carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high cowl neck caught at the back with rhinestone clips and having shirred sleeves with draped opening at the shoulder. The matron of honor's gown was of the same style, but of golden brown velvet. The bridesmaids and matron of honor wore hats of velvet and tulle combined, the same shade of the gowns with petals of velvet bordering the crown. They carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with tulle.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon gown of raspberry crepe combined with satin with hat and other accessories to match and completed with a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, wore an afternoon gown of black crepe trimmed with a gold flocked bow and worn with a black hat. Her shoulder corsage was of Talisman rosebuds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake was cut by the bridal party and punch was served. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a hat of navy felt and other accessories to match. The young couple left by motor for a wedding trip to Florida, after which they will return to St. Simons and begin housekeeping in the Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is one of the most attractive young girls in Brunswick's and St. Simons' social contingent. She is a graduate of Glynn Academy here, also Wesleyan College Conservatory at Macon and is a popular figure at all social affairs of the city and island resorts.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce of Sea Island Beach and the late E. C. Bruce, prominent citizen of Brunswick for a number of years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Glynn Academy here. He attended Emory University for two years, and the University of Georgia, where he received his degree in law in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. Mr. Bruce has practiced law in Brunswick for two years.

Dr. and Mrs. L. A. DeLoach, Mrs. King Dixon and Mrs. John Walsh of Savannah were among the out-of-town guests at the wedding. Mr. Bruce is a nephew of Mrs. DeLoach.

MISS HASELL AND MR. BRUCE WED AT FREDERICA CHURCH

BRUNSWICK, Ga.—A wedding of unusual beauty, in which centered much social interest, was that of Miss Catherine Mortimer Hasell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Taylor, of St. Simons Island, and Mr. James Robert Bruce, of Brunswick and Sea Island Beach, which was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, in the quaint and historic little Christ Church, Frederica, St. Simons Island. Rev. Charles H. Lee, rector, performed the impressive Episcopal marriage service.

The beautiful little church was appropriately decorated with palms. Marie Antoinette baskets filled with bronze and white chrysanthemums, cathedral tapers in branched candelabra decorated the chancel and altar of the church. While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Alfred C. Wood, who presided at the organ, rendered several appropriate selections. Just preceding the ceremony, Miss Carolyn Lowe gave two wedding hymns.

The bridal party was composed of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, of Cordale, as matron of honor, and Miss Rosa Vickers and Miss Estelle McCaskill, bridesmaids. Mr. Howard Leavy and Mr. Bernard Nightingale, acted as bridegroomsmen and ushers. Mr. Bruce was attended by his brother, Mr. Charles Dixon Bruce, as best man, and entered with the bridegroom from the vestry.

The bride entered with Mr. Taylor, by whom she was given in marriage. She was lovely in her wedding gown, a Chanel model of ivory velvet fashioned with fitted hip line and graceful train. Her wedding veil was of double illusion with a wreath of orange blossoms, and pearls framing the face. She carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of gold chiffon velvet, fitted Patou models fashioned with a slight train and high bow neck. The matron of honor wore the same style gown but fashioned of golden brown velvet. Their accessories were in matching shades, and they carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with tulle. Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a gown of raspberry crepe and wore a shoulder corsage of Tallman rose buds. Mrs. E. C. Bruce, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black handsomely trimmed with touches of gold, and a shoulder corsage of Tallman rosebuds.

On account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding reception was called off, only the bridal party and members of the immediate family returning to the bride's home after the ceremony, where the wedding cake was cut by the bridal party. The bride changed to her traveling costume, a lovely three-piece ensemble of navy blue wool, worn with a smart English Dobbs hat of navy felt, and other matching accessories.

The young couple left by motor for a week's trip to various points of interest in Florida. Upon their return to St. Simons, they will make their home in the attractive Dudley cottage on East Beach.

The bride is a charming young woman, and is well-known and popular in Brunswick and on St. Simons Island. She is a graduate of Glynn Academy in Brunswick, and also Wesleyan College Conservatory, at Macon. She is a granddaughter of the late Judge James D. Gould, prominent pioneer of St. Simons Island.

Mr. Bruce is the youngest son of Mrs. Edward C. Bruce, of Sea Island Beach, and the late E. C. Bruce, well-known and prominent citizen of Brunswick for a number of years. He is a graduate of Glynn Academy here; attended Emory University and the University of Georgia, receiving his degree in law from Lumpkin Law School at the university in 1932. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and also belongs to several local social clubs.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon, Jacksonville; Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. DeLoach, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Bruce, Vero Beach, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson A. Powell, Cordale; Mrs. A. D. Hannan, Dothan, Ala.; and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Berolzheimer, of New York City.

THANKSGIVING

"I thank Thee, Lord," my words declare

At stated times in formal prayer;

Yet I remember one small child

Who, when her thoughts were running wild

At some prize gift, would simply glow

With thankfulness she let me know

By just a long, impulsive "Oh!"

Too few the times my lips express

The thanks for frequent happiness,

For love and health, a friend, a tree,

And home and dreams and reverie;

But, Lord, I know that you have heard

The thanks that deep within me stirred

In gratitude that knows no word.

—W. B. France.

HONOREE OF LOVELY PARTY

Lovely in details was the delightful bridge party yesterday afternoon when Miss Rosa Vickers charmingly entertained twenty friends at contract bridge at her home on Union street, honoring Miss Kitty Hasell, whose marriage to Robert Bruce will be an event of social interest next week.

The hospitable Vickers home was prettily adorned with quantities of yellow and white chrysanthemums emphasizing the color note which featured the appointments. In this attractive setting five tables of contract bridge players enjoyed the afternoon. For making high score, Miss Sara Hammons was presented a powder and perfume set; consolation prize, a piece of lingerie, was cut by Miss Martha Pate, and Mrs. Howard Leavy received low score prize, a box of handkerchiefs. The bride-elect was presented a pair of hand-made pillow-cases as a memento of the happy occasion.

Late in the afternoon the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Vickers, served a salad and sweet course with hot tea.

For the event, the hostess received her guests wearing a lovely afternoon gown of black chiffon velvet, and Miss Hasell was lovely in an afternoon gown of brown crepe with matching accessories.

The following guests are indebted to Miss Vickers for her delightful hospitality: Misses Kitty Hasell, Elizabeth Young, Mary Cunningham, Martha Pate, Frances Cleveland, Mitzi Williams, Dolores Gillican, Estelle McCaskill, Sara Hammons, Doris Wolfe, Elizabeth Bacon, Eleanor Stiles, Kathryn Perry, Mrs. Charles Bruce, Mrs. Miessé Baumgardner, Mrs. Eugene Dill, Mrs. Howard Leavy, Mrs. G. T. Holody, Mrs. Millard Copeland, Jr., and Miss Mildred Bunkley. Miss Carolyn Lowe and Mrs. Joe Glover, who were tea guests.

MISS POSTELL HOSTESS BRIDGE LUNCHEON TUESDAY

Miss Annie J. Postell entertained a group of friends at a delightful bridge luncheon party Tuesday at her home, "Cedar Hills," on St. Simons Island, having Miss Kitty Hasell, lovely bride-elect of next week as the honoree.

Attractive fall floral decorations were used in the spacious living room of the home where guests enjoyed contract bridge at three tables. Mrs. Charles Bruce won the high score prize, and Miss Elizabeth Stevens received low score. The two prizes as well as guest prize presented Miss Hasell were pretty hand-made aprons, the artistic work of the hostess.

At the conclusion of the spirited card games, a delicious three-course luncheon was served.